

Limitations:

1. Testing:

As the project grows, limited or nonexistent automated testing may make it more difficult to find and fix bugs.

2. Limited Styling:

The application that is provided might not have a well-designed user interface because its primary objective is functionality instead of beauty. Enhancements to the styling could make the user experience better overall.

3. Notifications:

The current version might not support real-time notifications for updates or modifications.
